INTRODUCTION

MISSING VOICES

"In this uniform, you will be called upon at all times to be conscious of the immense power and privilege you have and to be mindful of your corresponding obligation to exercise it conscientiously and responsibly. This way, you will remain ever conscious of our commitment to deliver a new, citizen-centric, service-oriented, and human rights-respecting policing and security paradigm that keeps the Republic of Kenya and its people safe without sacrificing their rights and freedoms."

President William Ruto on 10th January 2023 at the National Police College Main Campus-Kiganjo

Missing Voices' objective is to end police killings and enforced disappearances in Kenya and call for justice for the families of the victims. Since its inception in August 2018, Missing Voices has documented and verified data on police killings and enforced disappearances and held several online and offline campaigns to disseminate our research. Missing Voices undertakes these activities in partnership with other stakeholders in the police accountability community and victims' families to get justice for victims and survivors and promote police accountability.

We envision a society that enjoys human rights and fundamental freedoms.

Our mission is to use data-driven advocacy campaigns towards the prevention of extrajudicial executions and enforced disappearances.

METHODOLOGY AND DATA COLLECTION

PRIMARY APPROACH

Missing Voices relies on monitors spread across Kenya to document cases of police killings and enforced disappearances; collect witness statements and further evidence. The materials collected are further scrutinized to ensure they meet the evidentiary threshold. If there are gaps, there is a follow-up before publishing them.

SECONDARY APPROACH

Missing Voices collects data from open sources, including media outlets and human rights groups, to complement primary data collection. The secondary data is cross-checked with witness statements and police reports. As a result, only cases that can be verified are included in the final list.

We take data integrity seriously; thus, the cases included in the annual report are verified and, therefore, as accurate as possible.

CHALLENGES

Missing Voices monitors experience difficulties documenting all cases of known police killings and enforced disappearances because of the following:

- Witnesses and families are unwilling to engage the criminal justice system because cases take inordinate time before the court rules on them; some cases take almost a decade in court.
- Human Rights Defenders (HRDs) face innumerable threats from security agencies when they pursue cases of extrajudicial executions and enforced disappearances.
- The Independent Policing Oversight Authority (IPOA) deals with a backlog of cases, leading to delays; as a result, families give up following the instances with the IPOA.
- Witnesses are unwilling to come forward to report cases because of inadequate protection services and general mistrust in the Criminal Justice System.
- Kenya does not have a law that explicitly criminalizes Enforced Disappearance, making it challenging for families to get justice.
- Police killings and enforced disappearances are evolving, and new groups have become targets. For instance, while people living in informal urban areas were the primary targets in the past, groups like Boda Boda riders are increasingly becoming new targets. Missing Voices must pivot in documenting this emerging trend.
- Rising crime and police attacks on IPOA by depicting them as busybodies out to persecute police officers have led to decreased public support and respect for the criminal justice system. Police have often claimed the reason they cannot effectively fight crime is because IPOA and civil society organizations are persecuting them.
- Limited scope of coverage leaving at-risk populations especially in bandit-prone areas where verification of cases is difficult.

FOREWORD

President William Ruto's disbanding of the Special Services Unit accused of extrajudicial killings and enforced disappearances on October 17, 2022, and the sentencing of police officers involved in the killing of lawyer Willie Kimani, his client Josephat Mwenda and taxi driver Joseph Muiruri (referred to Mavoko 3 case), offers a glimpse of what accountability for the victims of extrajudicial executions and enforced disappearances can look like.

However, despite these positive and welcome moves by the president and the judiciary, a statement by the police leadership offers an insight into a service that is out of step with the reality of the police's egregious human rights violations. The Inspector General of Police, (IGP) Japheth Koome is on record calling the Independent Policing Oversight Authority (IPOA) as a "busybody" for discharging its constitutional mandate.

During the 2022 election campaign, President Ruto's party promised to end police abuse, especially against urban youth, through enhancing police oversight (IPOA, Internal Affairs Unit (IAU) and National Police Service Commission (NPSC), creating an ombudsman to monitor human rights violations, ending all forms of extra-judicial executions by security agencies and establishing the Coroner General's Office as per the National Coroner's Service Act of 2017, ratifying and domesticating the International Convention for the Protection of All Persons from enforced disappearances.

The time to put the campaign rhetoric into action is now. The disbanding of the Special Service Unit within the Directorate of Criminal Investigations (DCI) was a positive step, but fulfilling these promises, against the background of valiant documentation, extrajudicial killings and enforced disappearance, will send a powerful signal to the police officers that observation of human rights is sacred. Even more important, it will offer the families of the victims of extrajudicial killings and enforced disappearance solace that justice will be done, and hata mnyonge ana haki, which is in line with the National Anthem, Haki iwe ngao namlinzi.

While positive, the successful prosecution of the Mavoko 3 case also speaks of the long duration cases take in the court of law, discourages many families seeking justice in court. Additionally, for every Mavoko3 case, there are multiple cases of extrajudicial killings that are still in the courts without resolutions, some through legal maneuvers leaving families to lose hope of ever getting justice.

POLICE KILLINGS AND ENFORCED DISAPPEARANCES 2022- KEY FINDINGS

POLICE KILLINGS AND ENFORCED DISAPPEARANCES 2022- KEY FINDINGS

Missing Voices documented 130 cases of police killings and 22 cases of enforced disappearances in 2022, bringing the total number to 152. This compared to 2021, where Missing Voices documented 186 cases of police killings and 36 cases of enforced disappearances, indicates that police killings dropped by 30.1% and disappearances by 38%. This is a total drop of 31.5% percent.

January 2022 saw the highest police killings, with 28 cases from 11 incidents. The second-highest month is July, with 21 police killings arising from 12 incidents. The third highest month is February, with 13 police killings arising from 9 incidents. No enforced disappearance was recorded in April, July, November, and December 2022.

Regarding, enforced disappearances, June had the highest number of enforced disappearance cases at six. In June, however, 4 of the six victims were later found dead. These victims were Moses Nyachae, Frank Obegi, Fred Obare, and Elijah Omeka, who were arrested at Kasarani police station only to be found dead. September 2022 has the second highest number of enforced disappearances cases at 4, followed by March with 3 cases and January with 2 cases.

The last quarter of 2022 (October to December) had the lowest numbers of enforced disappearances cases at 3. This was the same period that the new government consistently condemned cases of enforced disappearances, a pointer to how political goodwill and condemnation of these crimes by the highest office can help reduce these cases.

POLICE KILLINGS AND ENFORCED DISAPPEARANCES DATA PER COUNTY – 2022

NUMBER OF ENFORCED DISAPPEARANCES PER COUNTY.

Nairobi county ranks as the highest in police killings with 53 cases; most cases were as a result of anti-crime operations that police conducted in various parts of the county. Lamu county comes in second with 15 cases. All 15 killings in Lamu happened on the 17th of January 2022 during a multi-agency task force's anti-terror operation in Boni forest. All the victims' details were never released but were recorded in the morgue as unknown.

Graph showing the number of enforced disappearances per county.

In cases of enforced disappearance, Nairobi leads with 11 cases, followed by Kiambu County with 5 cases as shown in the chart below.

Youth residing in poor neighborhoods in urban centers are the most affected by police killings and enforced disappearances, as shown by the data on police killings and enforced disappearances per county above. The trend shows that male youth are prone to be victims of police killings and enforced disappearances.

POLICE STATIONS WITH THE HIGHEST CASES OF KILLINGS AND DISAPPEARANCES

POLICE STATIONS WITH THE HIGHEST CASES OF KILLINGS AND DISAPPEARANCES

Graph showing police stations with highest number of victims.

The Pangani police station in Nairobi County continued to be the most notorious when it comes to cases of police killings, with 11 cases attributed to the station; however, this is a significant drop from 32 cases reported at the station in 2021. This could be explained by the transfer of 19 police officers from Pangani Police Station on November 25, 2021, following sustained campaigns by Missing Voices coalition. Kayole Police Station is second with 5 followed by Kahawa West and Nakuru West Sub County police following with 4 cases each.

From our data, we could not pinpoint the police stations involved in the killings and enforced disappearances of 35 people. Out of this number, 19 are linked to enforced disappearance cases where perpetrators identified themselves as police officers. In contrast, 16 are linked to police killings where families could not identify the police stations the officers involved came from.

While conducting anti-terror operations, a multi-agency task force has been implicated in most killings in Lamu, Mandera, and Turkana Counties, totaling 18 cases.

The Directorate of Criminal Investigations, (DCI) was implicated in 8 killings in 2022.

GENDER OF VICTIMS

In the 2022 data, just like in previous years, men have predominantly been victims of enforced disappearances and police killings. Out of the 22 cases of enforced disappearance recorded in 2022, 20 victims are men representing 91% of the victims. Women accounted for 9% with 2 cases. Out of the 130 total documented cases of police killings, 124 are men representing 95.3%. Six of the cases are women, which represents 4.7%.

The data further shows that of the 22 victims of enforced disappearances, 9 are between the ages of 19 to 35 years. Out of the 130 cases of police killings, 57 were between the ages of 19 to 35, while 57 had ages recorded as unknown.

TYPE OF OPERATION

Most of the cases resulted from anti-crime operations, accounting for 91 cases of police killings and 8 cases of enforced disappearances. 18 killings resulted from anti-terror operations, with most victims being youth. 111 victims of police killing were shot dead, 16 were tortured, and 3 died in police custody.

a stray bullet killed 1 Woman

Killings Targeting Women

Maureen Moraa

Shot by her husband, a police officer, on February 20, 2022.

Lucy

Abducted on April 24, 2022 at Githurai 44, in the company of a female friend, and both were later found killed and dumped. Lucy's body was found in Oloitokitok, while her unidentified friend was discovered at Mashurui in Kajiado County, about 140 kilometers apart.

Janet Chebet

On September 5, 2022, Janet Chebet was shot and killed by her boyfriend, a police officer, in Kuresoi, Nakuru County

Whitney Atieno

Was killed by a stray bullet through the stomach on June 12, 2022, in Bondeni Nakuru during an operation by police to arrest suspected criminals in the city. It is alleged that the officer who shot her refused to take her to hospital immediately after the shooting and bled at the scene for two hours. One of Missing Voices partners is following the case.

Emily Musitat

Was shot dead on December 6, 2022, by her husband, a police officer. The 6th case is a 19-year-old

As opposed to men, most police killings of women resulted from gender-based violence. Five women were killed due to personal arguments or gender-based violence, while a stray bullet killed 1. These women include Maureen Moraa, who was shot by her husband, a police officer, on February 20, 2022. A woman we only identified as Lucy was abducted on April 24, 2022 at Githurai 44, in the company of a female friend, and both were later found killed and dumped. Lucy's body was found in Oloitokitok, while her unidentified friend was discovered at Mashurui in Kajiado County, about 140 kilometers apart.

It is alleged that the officer who shot her refused to take her to hospital immediately after the shooting and bled at the scene for two hours. One of Missing Voices partners is following the case.

KILLINGS DUE TO PERSONAL ALTERCATIONS

All the victims of altercations with police officers are men. Simon Thuku and Pontianas Ikumoli were killed in Nakuru on the 16th and Meru on the 22nd of February, respectively. The third case is that of Samuel Mugo, who was killed in Zimmerman Nairobi on May 16, 2022. The fourth victim is Stephen Osedo, who was killed on November 13, 2022, in Umoja Estate, Nairobi, by a police officer after an alleged argument.

The fifth victim is Elvis Baya Thoya, a 28-year-old boda boda rider who was shot and killed by a police officer in Malindi on December 22, 2022; the officer involved later took his own life. The sixth victim is Franklin Mong'are, a 23-year-old businessman who administration police officers allegedly killed at the Kitaru chief's office in Nyamira County.

RIVER YALA BODIES

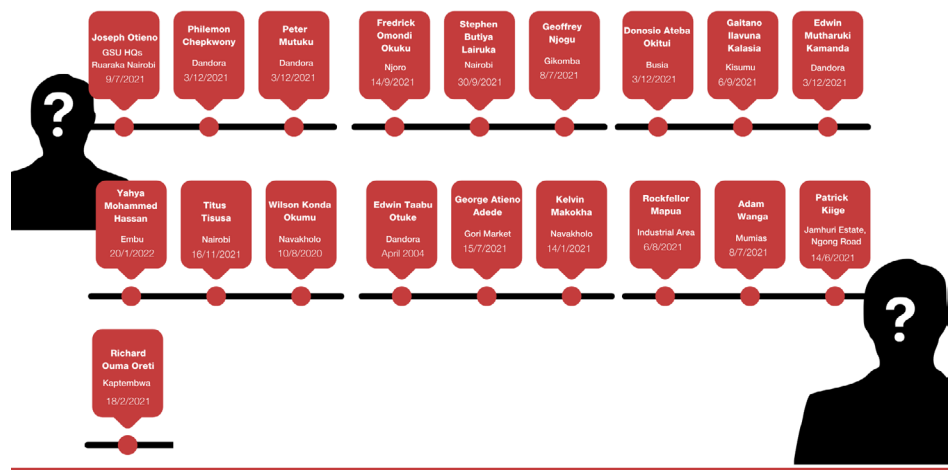

IPOA REPORT ON KILLINGS AND ENFORCED DISAPPEARANCES

In January 2022, the Independent Policing Oversight Authority launched investigations into the incidents in which 22 dead bodies were recovered from River Yala in Siaya County on diverse dates after HAKI Africa brought the issue to light. The number would later shoot to 36 bodies after other Missing Voices partners joined the search for answers.

IPOA, in their statement, said they attended all the post-mortem examinations; the general emerging trend as the cause of death was determined as; 12 head injuries, 2 abdominal and chest injuries, 1 drowning, 1 had a head and chest injury, 3 strangulations and 1 peritonitis. The cause of death for 5 victims was undetermined. Preliminary investigations point out that the nature of injuries sustained or cause of death point to the same or similar perpetrators. DNA profiling is also ongoing.

Missing Voices Coalition contacted Nicholas Okero Okite, the local diver responsible for fishing out the bodies from the river. He claims more bodies are still being dumped into the river.

LIST OF MISSING PERSONS RECEIVED IN YALA RIVER

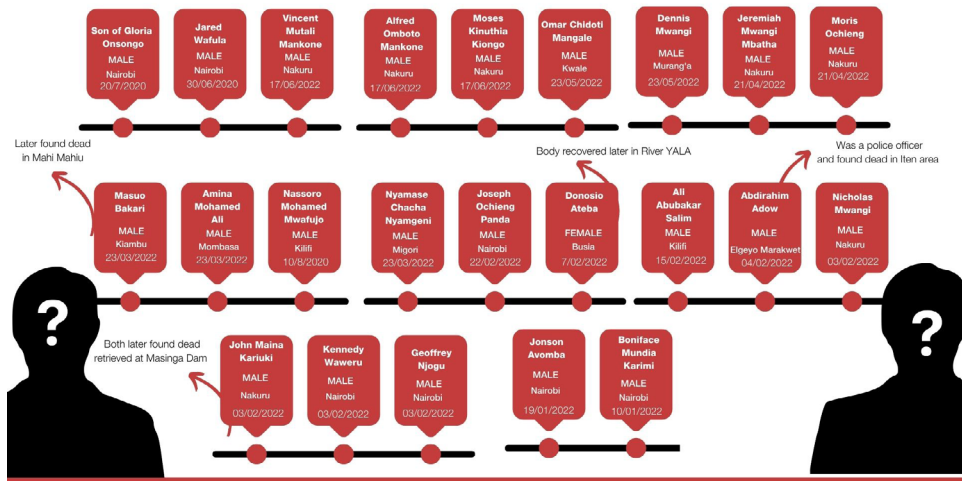

List of Missing Persons Recovered from River Yala according to IPOA

According to the table, we can deduce that 8 out of 13 persons reported missing between July 2021 and to date were last seen within Nairobi City and that 2 of them were positively identified by their families at Yala Sub County Mortuary. Others were from Nakuru 1, Kisumu 1, Embu 1, Kakamega 1 and Siaya 1. Consequently, most of the reported cases of missing persons are from Nairobi City, drawing a conclusion that most of the bodies retrieved from River Yala are from other counties.

Missing Voices was unable to add the River Yala bodies to the total number of those killed by police because the investigations are ongoing

IPOA RECEIVED 20 CASES OF ENFORCED DISAPPEARANCES IN 2022

VICTIMS OF ENFORCED DISAPPEARANCES IN 2022

Independent Policing Oversight Authority had received 20 cases of enforced disappearances as of December 2022. The authority was yet to release the numbers for August to December.

This list varies from the one Missing Voices has since some of the cases were reported to IPOA directly and were not even highlighted in the media or reported to human rights organizations.

POLITICAL GOOD WILL

During the election campaign, the Kenya kwanza- UDA Manifesto had the following points regarding police killings and enforced disappearances.

- Ending police abuse, especially against urban youth, through enhancing police oversight (IPOA and NPSC) and creating an ombudsman to monitor human rights violations.
- Ending all extra-judicial executions by security services and establishing the Coroner General's Office as per the National Coroner's Service Act of 2017.
- Establishing a Special Tribunal for Gross Human Rights Violations and Enforced disappearances (including by police and military actors in Northern Kenya).
- Ratifying and domesticating the International Convention for the Protection of All Persons from Enforced disappearances.

Following his election, President William Ruto disbanded the dreaded Special Services Unit (SSU) police unit under the Directorate of Criminal Investigation (DCI). He accused the unit of engaging in extra-judicial killings and Enforced disappearances.

On December 21, 2022, the President gazetted a 23-member task force tasked with identifying and recommending legal, administrative, and institutional reforms in the National Police Service and the Kenya Prisons Service. So far, these decisions have given the public a glimmer of hope as they await the findings of this task force and the determination of cases against SSU officer, Ahmed Rashid.

THE NEED FOR MORE ACCOUNTABILITY

MURDERED BY THE POLICE: OUR CHILDREN AS TARGETS

The story told by: HawoHirbo Boba

Victims name: DonoJuma

I received a phone call around 9 pm on January 29, 2022. The distress phone call was from Dono's wife. She was in tears. At first, I assumed they were involved in a domestic dispute. So, I decided to call him instead, but he never picked up. I assumed he was angry, that is why he is not picking up.

We took a motorcycle ride to Dono's house with my husband. When we arrived at his house, there was a lot of confusion. Then, one of his neighbors called and unequivocally stated that the situation was getting out of hand.

I was shocked to discover that it was a crime scene and that state agents had murdered my son. Those involved were two police officers. He was shot by one of the police officers who were after him. We saw all the evidence of murder where Dono was lying dead. His head was inflamed, and the bullet had exited through his chest.

The police officer who shot him dead left the scene with his partner. They later returned to the scene to search for the bullet.

The alleged cop was apprehended. We attempted to track the case's progress by following up. Until now, we have no idea how it is progressing.

ENFORCED DISAPPEARANCE CASE

Story told by: Ann Mwihaki Wanjiku

Victims name: Charles Muchuha

My son went missing while working as an Uber driver. He left his place in Komarock and arrived at my place around 11:30 am. He was cheerful that day. He didn't spend so much time around.

Less than 30 minutes after he left, I received a phone call informing me that my son had been arrested at a car wash. I learned that he had been transferred to John Saga. When I arrived there, his friends, who had gone before me, informed me that he was not present at the station.

It is harrowing; raising a child in good health and spirit for all those years is extremely difficult. It was heartbreaking to bury my son while missing some of his body parts.

MAVOKO 3 CASE

Officer Leliman and other police officers abduct Josephat from his home during the night. The next day Josephat is charged with six additional counts of a traffic violation. Leliman claims Josephat was violating the law while riding a motorcycle even though Josephat's injury to his hand prevented him from riding a motorcycle.

IJM officially takes Josephat's case.

Josephat Mwenda is stopped by police officer Fredrick Leliman, who accidentally shoots him in hand. Three days later, Josephat is charged with three counts: drug possession, gambling, and resisting arrest to cover up the shooting incidence. Josephat complains to IPOA. Willie begins following up the case for International Justice Mission (IJM).

CARLTON MAINA 2018 -2022

COURT PROCESS

Maina, an electronic engineering student, had returned to Kenya for Christmas Holidays.

Police Constable Emmanuel Ambunya Oyombe of KNH Police Post was arrested for killing..

August 15

2020

The 23-year-old University of Leeds student was killed by police on December 21, 2018, at Line Saba, Kibera-Nairobi.

December 21 2018

Up until now

Since 2018 the case has not gone to a full hearing; there have been four adjournments since 2018 because the defense team isn't ready, technicalities, or just not in court. Other dates were set from February 13, 14, and 15 but the case did not proceed. (will be updated before the report goes to print) and 13, 14, 15, 27, and 28 March 2023 have been set for the case.

Evans Njoroge alias 'Kidero'

Evans had fled and tried to hide in a banana plantation a kilometer and a half from the main road where they had staged a peaceful protest against the rise in university fees.

Administration Police officer Leaky Maina was arrested and later charged on July 13, 2018, with the murder of Evans Njoroge.

July 13 2018

Njoroge, a Meru University Student Leader, was killed on February 27, 2018, at Kabebe village in Tigania West

Up until now

February 27 2018

The hearing resumes in April 2023. Three judges have also handled the case since 2018.

Leakey, out on bond, was a police constable at Nchiru Police Station. The case has had seven adjournments; the prosecution has had twenty witnesses testifying. The Chief Government Pathologist and the Investigating Officer (IO) are the only prosecution witnesses remaining before the accused can be put on defense.

The hearings in February, May, and September 2022 were adjourned because the defense counsel had not supplied the court with all the necessary evidence and witness statements.e.

YASSIN MOYO 2022

COURT PROCESS

Yassin Moyo was 14 years pupil waiting to sit his KCPE examination in 2020 when his life was cut short by a police bullet where the COVID-19 curfew was declared.

Unfortunately, the curfew hour found Hussein at his friend's house, and he was stuck at the home. While they were watching news with Bashir, they heard gun shots within the estate and shortly after Hussein's elder daughter called him crying alerted him that Yassin had been shot while they were at the balcony.

The shooting happened on March 30, 2020, at around 7.15pm. Yassin's father Hussein had left his flat at around 6pm with instructions that Yassin shuts the gate and gives the keys to his mother. He had then proceeded to his friend's house who stayed close by.

Ndiema was arraigned on June 23, 2020 for causing Yassin's death. He denied the charge, and the court released him on Sh1 million cash bail.

Judge Justus Bwonwong'a who was handling the case said the hearing against Ndiema will end by March 2023, two months after its commencement.

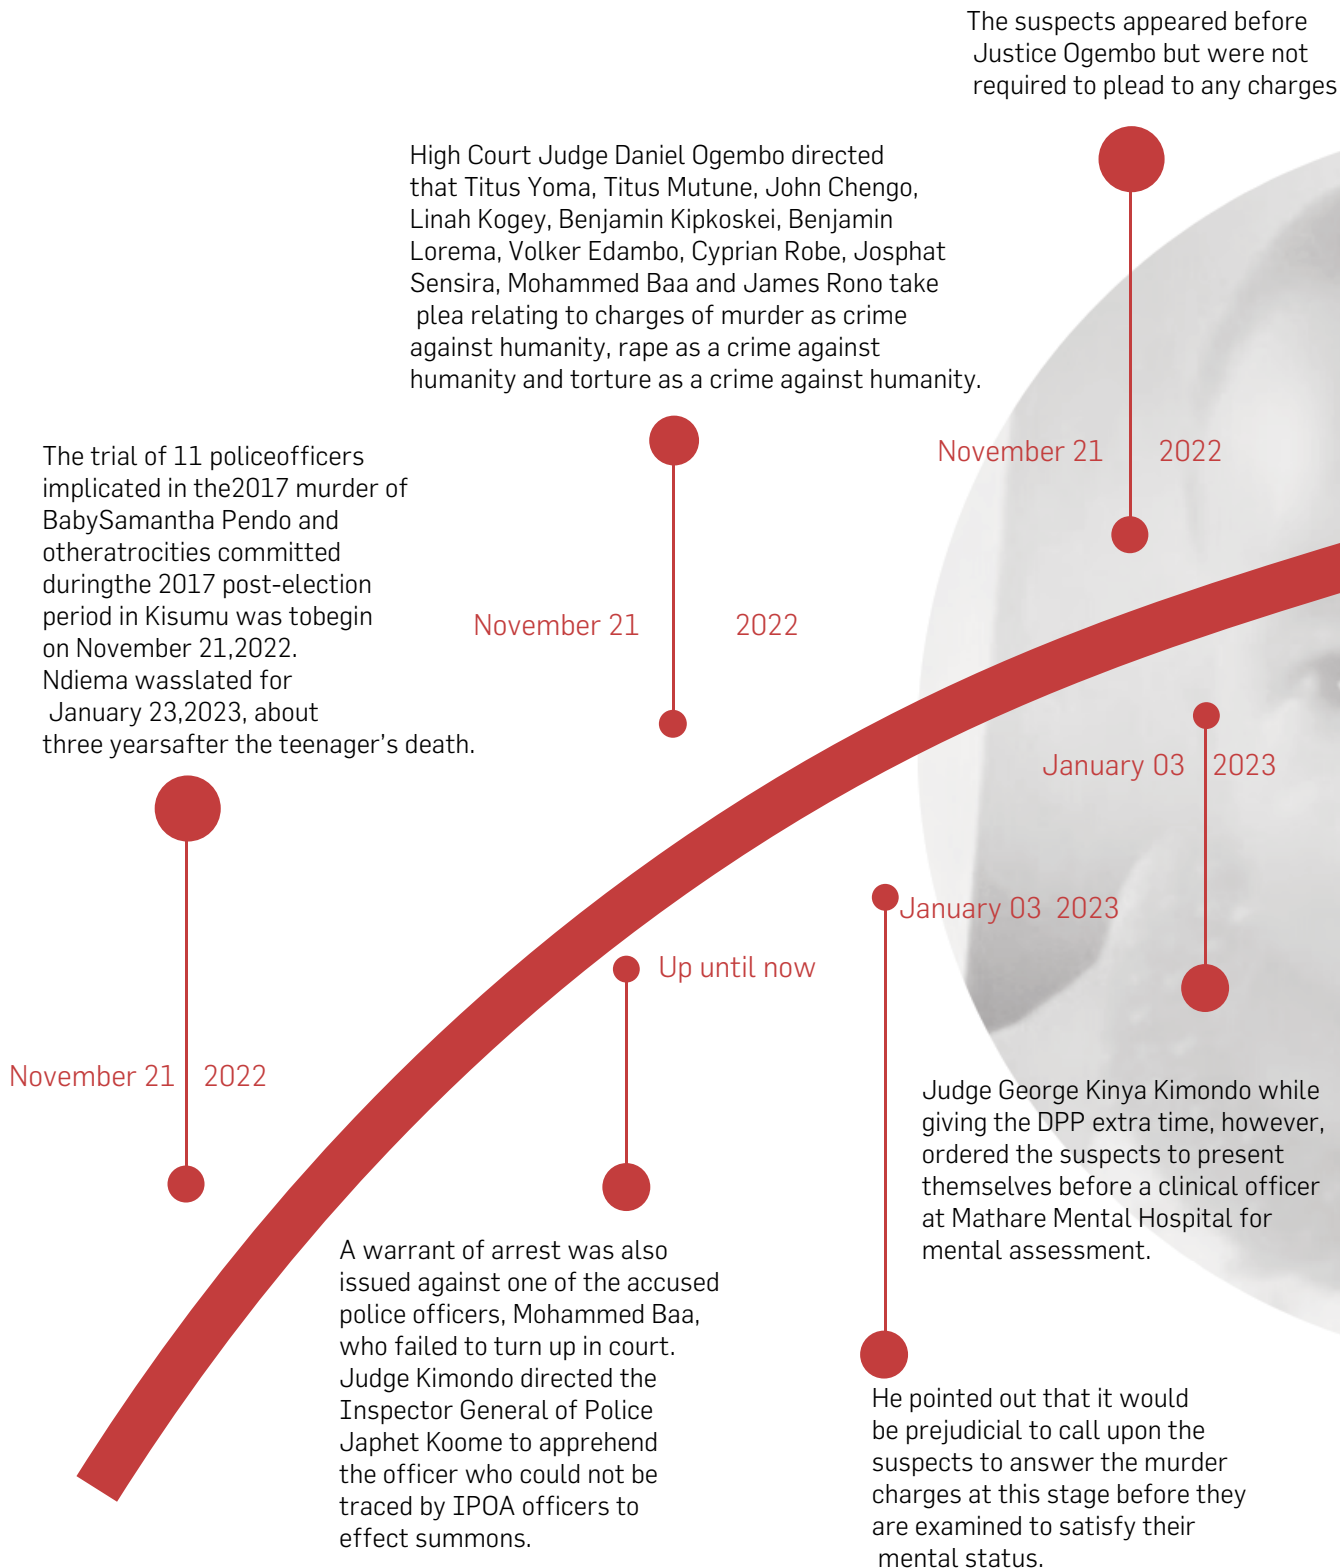

Nineteen witnesses are set to testify against Ndiema according to the Director of Public Prosecution.

Up until now

Unfortunately, the case has never progressed to Hearing. Initially the court file allegedly got lost in the Registry and could not be traced. When it was found, the defense has sought several adjournments, and this has made the matter to stall. Recently the trial judge was transferred, and this will cause further delays.

BABY PENDO'S CASE 2022

Through their lawyers, they asked the court to suspend the case for two months to allow them to pursue several other applications they had filed challenging the constitutionality of their trial.

They told the court that the case affects their constitutional rights and that, because the case has already been in court for five years, delaying it further to allow them to resolve the preliminary issues would not be detrimental.

But victims, through a team of human rights lawyers, raised objections to that application. The rights lawyers argued that delaying the matter would be prejudicial to victims, like baby Pendo, who is deceased, and others who were left maimed by the actions of the accused persons.

The suspects were then released on a personal bond of Ksh 200,000.

The case was to proceed on January 30, 2023 but the Director of Public Prosecutions Noordin Haji sought 21 days pending the hearing and determination of a Constitutional Petition filed by the defense lawyers before the officers take plea.

"This is a very serious case with far-reaching implications as it is a case of unique nature as the suspects have been brought to court where they are being charged under the International Crimes Act. This is a case where a child died and other violations of sexual violence and torture. We need directions from the court on how to proceed on the matter regarding its uniqueness," DPP urged court.

His sentiments were echoed by those of other victims' lawyers drawn from the Kenya Human Rights Commission (KHRC), Independent Medical Legal Unit (IMLU), and Utu Wetu, all of whom asked the judge to decline the request to suspend the trial.

Submitting before the judge, International Justice Mission lawyer Edward Mbanya said suspending the trial would be tantamount to denying victims the right to justice.

In his ruling, Justice Ogembo explained that he had considered all of the arguments presented in court. He was of the view that the suspects wouldn't be prejudiced if they entered a plea. "I am of the view that even if a plea is taken, the subjects will still be at liberty to pursue their applications, and if successful, this proceeding can be declared null and void at any stage," the judge said.

KIANJAKOMA BROTHERS' CASE 2021

The killing of two brothers Benson and Emmanuel Ndwigwa in Embu, Kianjokoma area who were arrested over curfew rules on August 1, 2021, elicited a public outcry. The brothers went missing after being arrested by police officers for breaking curfew rules. For days their parents searched for them with their search ending at the morgue.

Six police officers were arrested and charged with the murder, but they denied the charges. The six accused police officers were initially represented by 9 lawyers who had sought to stop the plea taking. So far 6 prosecution witnesses have testified including the boys' parents have testified in court.

The matter was set to make further progress on February 27, 2023, to March 2, 2023, but did not proceed as the trial Judge has been transferred.

Missing Voices Kenya, a coalition of organizations that monitor such deaths, has recorded 1,226 police killings and 275 enforced disappearances since 2007 when it began documenting cases. That was when the city's slums were flooded with "killer cops" who shot numerous young men, accusing them of actual or alleged crimes. Locals refer to these police officers as "serial killers". Last year, the group counted at least 187 extra-judicial killings and 32 cases of enforced disappearances in Kenya.

LAUNCH OF 2021 DELAYED JUSTICE REPORT IN NAKURU

On April 27, 2021, Missing Voices officially launched the 2021 annual report titled Delayed justice at Nyayo Gardens at the heart of Nakuru town. The report focused on the long-time cases of extrajudicial killings taken in court, with the focus being Mavoko 3 case which was in its sixth year in court then. The judgment was made in July, two months after the report's release.

The then Head of Criminal Division at the High Court Justice Grace Nzioka who represented the Chief Justice at the launch blamed investigations and prosecution teams for most of the case delays by filing cases with gaps.

“If you bring me a matter, I am ready to proceed, but the Independent Police Oversight Authority and Office of the Director of Public Prosecutions do not bring witnesses what can the court do?”

Justice Nzioka called on all actors in the criminal justice system to play their role in enabling the courts to administer justice swiftly. The Lady Justice said numerous adjournments of cases defeat justice. “I can assure you as a judge, if you bring me witnesses and bring to my knowledge the sensitivity, the need, the demand, I am willing to lay aside every other case and do take this case, finalize with it and move on, but if you do not enable me it is going to be extremely difficult,” Justice Nzioka said.

UWAGA MEDIA TOURS

During the year Missing Voices launched the Uwaga Song by community artists and Juliani. After the launch the team organized media tours to discuss the song's main theme and way young people should join the fight against police killings and enforced disappearances. In addition to the core objectives, Missing coordinator also called on the public to support Missing Voices by signing the online petition on Criminalizing Enforced Disappearance in Kenya that has so far attracted 3,969 signatures.

The coalition managed to conduct 5 television interviews and 4 radio shows as follows.

ZERO.ZERO PODCAST

On July 2, 2022, Missing Voices Coalition conducted an audio-visual podcast at Mathare Social Justice Center. Later, the same day, the coalition held a concert at slum soccer grounds in Mathare, which was also a launch of the Uwaga music video that had been recorded at Mlango Kubwa in Mathare. Missing Voices partners with like-minded artists with the goal of empowering the masses through art (activism).

The podcast brought together 8 community leaders from Mathare to speak on their community's challenges. This is especially about police brutality and the normalization of violence.

The panelists proposed the following as a way forward to.

- The need for restorative justice, that is, rehabilitation of criminals, in addition to psycho-social support. Security agents and administrators should be educated on handling people living in informal settlements.
- Civilians should build rapport with police officers and help police conduct CSR projects. All community-based organizations should come together to make this dream a reality.
- The youth should seek to learn skills to provide for themselves and their families.
- There is power in storytelling. Positive stories should be told that will help change Mathare.
- Leaders should bring projects to the youth so that they stop engaging in criminality since Extra Judicial Killings are not ending criminality but are instead making matters worse.

DIALOGUE FORUM AT SLUM SOCCER GROUNDS – MATHARE

Missing voices partnered with Mathare Social Justice Center and Mathare Empire to conduct this activity on 2nd July 2022. This activity was attended by over 400 participants from the Mlango area of Mathare and its environs.

The performance acts included the BMK family, Anthem republic, Skim Music, Mico Migra, Mugureness, Flawless Konya, and Mathare Social Justice Center Kids.

The Mathare community dialogue forum used the hashtag #UwagaMtaaLaunch. This hashtag drew 292,402 impressions with the potential to reach 68,976 people

COMMUNITY DIALOGUE FORUM IN NYALENDA-KISUMU

Missing Voices conducted a community dialogue forum in Kisumu on Friday, July 22 at Nyalenda Kilo, opposite Baba Shamar Supermarket on elections. Over 350 participants attended the event.

The event started with a procession from Quick mart in Kisumu town to the venue. The procession was attended by the Kenya National Commission on Human Rights chairperson-KNCHR Roseline Adede, who officially flagged it off, and the Amnesty International Kenya Executive Director Irungu Houghton. Mr. Irungu was representing Missing Voices Directors. Various Justice Centers from Kisumu and Nyalenda organized the activity.

Representatives from IPOA, IAU, KNCHR, AIK, NPS, and ODPP attended the event. The event's goal was to provide a platform where Nyalenda residents can engage duty-bearers on the challenges they face in accessing justice for victims of police brutality.

Nairobi-based artists, including Javan the poet, Sigingi, Burguda, Chali Slim and Shikkiey entertained the guests and residents. Artists including Apesi Minyamamkali, Dawedawe, Tessgraced the occasion. The Performances were on issues affecting the community dealing with police brutality. The event was streamed live on the Missing Voices Facebook page.

Residents heard from baby Pendo's parents, whose daughter was killed in the 2017 General Elections. They appealed to Nyalenda residents to desist from violence.

Mary Shantel's mother recounted what led to her daughter being shot by a stray bullet from the police. She said that she and her daughter Mary loses her memory in school and hides whenever she sees police officers. The mother appealed to well-wishers to provide counseling to her and her daughter, something they have not accessed due to financial constraints.

KNCHR Chairperson, Ms. Roselyne Adede, the chief guest, said that the commission partners with civil society organizations, including grassroots organizations to execute its mandate.

Mr. Houghton Irungu faulted the criminal justice system for taking too long to provide justice to victims of police brutality and other human rights violations, citing that justice delayed is justice denied.

Local, and international media and Missing Voices website covered the event. See some of the links below:

ELDORET JOURNALISTS TRAINING AND COMMUNITY DIALOGUE

Missing Voices conducted a training of 40 journalists on election from the 4th to the 7th of July 2022 at the Boma Inn Hotel in Eldoret. Afterward, the consortium conducted a community dialogue forum at TAC Center in Eldoret on 8th July 2022.

Participants were trained on various mandates held by organizations that played a vital role during this election period, especially regarding human rights and the rule of law. The training targeted journalists from Kenya's Rift Valley, Western and Nyanza regions. The trainers were sourced from different institutions such as Independent Policing and Oversight Authority- IPOA, Police Internal Affairs Unit (IAU), Defenders Coalition, KHRC, NPS, ODPP, and IJM, among others.

The community dialogue forum attracted 217 people.

Eldoret residents were addressed by the IPOA chairperson Ms. Anne Makori who called on the police to consider human rights as they discharge their duties. She asked them to be professional and transparent always.

She informed participants that IPOA exists to guard the public interest. IPOA only wants the relationship between the police and the public to be strengthened. She asked participants to report to IPOA if they have any issues with the police via a toll-free number is 1559.

Mr. Julius Ndenda from Kenya National Commission on Human Rights (KNCHR) called upon members of the public to contact them using various reporting mechanisms, for instance, through toll-free no. 0800720627 and the Kitale Office number 0708271216. The event has 143,286 impressions on Twitter with a potential of reaching 60,152 people.

TWITTER SPACE DISCUSSION— Aug 29, 2022

TOPIC: Why Enforced Disappearance Should Be Criminalized

Moderator: Marie Ramtu

Panelists.

Houghton Irungu: Executive Director, Amnesty International

Aggrey Juma: Lawyer at International Justice Mission

Javan Ochieng: Organizer, Social Justice Centers Working Group

Wangui Kimari: Research Coordinator, MSJC

Ahead of the International Day of Victims of Enforced Disappearance, the Missing Voices coalition held Twitter Space on August 29, 2022, from 7-8 pm, in which 455 people tuned in.

The discussions focused on the legal gaps that hinder the prosecution of cases of enforced disappearances in Kenya.

The panelists explained that enforced disappearances are those cases of abduction that are done by state officers and not those kidnappings that civilians do.

Enforced disappearance is mostly carried out by people in plain clothes and unmarked cars posing as police officers. The officers do not identify themselves or produce official documents like arrest warrants. In most cases, the victims are dragged by force into unmarked cars and taken to an unknown destination with no communication with family members, lawyers, and human rights activists.

Gitau Mwangi from the African Commission confirmed that they are finalizing a guideline on Enforced disappearances because most African countries have not ratified the Convention to Protect All Persons Against Enforced Disappearance. The guideline will help the government investigate cases of Enforced disappearances to prosecute those culpable of committing that crime. The commission adopted the guideline, it was launched on October 25, 2022. They plan to have a simplified version to share with the community to help advocate for Kenya to ratify the convention.

WHAT SHOULD BE DONE IF KENYA RATIFIES THE CONVENTION TO PROTECT ALL PERSONS AGAINST ENFORCED DISAPPEARANCES?

- If the covenant is ratified, human rights organizations need to push for a provision in Law, the Penal Code, or an Act of government that specifically criminalizes enforced disappearances.
- In 2018, the National Police Service did something very significant; they did an alignment of police divisions with the administrative services to have a ward and a police station within the ward.
- This is critical in cases of Enforced Disappearance because if someone is arrested in a certain locality, the officer in charge of that locality should be held responsible for that detention. Unfortunately, that does not happen currently.
- There is importance to give family solidarity in searching for their enforced disappeared member.

COMMEMORATION OF INTERNATIONAL DAY OF VICTIMS OF ENFORCED DISAPPEARANCE

The Missing Voices Coalition held a dialogue to mark the International Day of Victims of Enforced Disappearance on Tuesday, 30th August 2022, at Kayole 2 Social Hall. Kayole Community Justice Center hosted the event.

Some of the issues discussed include;

- Criminalize Enforced disappearances. The Senate in their report recognized enforced disappearance as a big problem and even recommended criminalizing it.
- The need to amend the laws of Kenya on enforced disappearances.
- The public should know the role of the police service and the Independent Policing Oversight Authority (IPOA) because they play a major role when it comes to cases of enforced disappearance.
- It is important to have an effective witness protection agency which we already have under the Witness Protection Act. It is important for witnesses to be assured of their protection when it comes to cases that involve state agencies.
- Victims and families of the victims need to be protected and freed from threats and intimidation.
- There is a task force on Criminal Justice Reform, which will play a critical role in ensuring that if a person is found capable of any crime, they can receive a quick and fair hearing.

RECOMMENDATIONS FROM THE DIALOGUE FORUM

1. All the security stakeholders were urged to hold forums on their areas to familiarize themselves with the community. This way, the community will get to understand their mandates, and these organizations will get to know more about what happens in the community.
2. The witness protection agency needs to be proactive in cases of police abuse of power in ensuring that the witnesses are safe to testify in those cases, including those of enforced disappearance.
3. The community was urged to report to any authority like the police, IAU, or even IPOA if something abnormal, like enforced disappearances cases occurs using emergency numbers from these organizations.
4. IAU and IPOA to have a forum where these two organizations will bring cases to all cases that have been referred to them, especially from the justice centers.
5. There is a need to have a discussion with the Witness Protection Agency in community forums to answer questions about the protection of witnesses.

INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS DAY 2022

In partnership with the coast civil societies reference group for human rights and security, the Missing Voices Coalition hosted the International Human Rights Day celebrations on December 10, 2022, at Swahili Pot Hub in Mombasa. The event was attended by more than 240 people and watched by hundreds of others online.

The participants for this activity were drawn from different parts of Mombasa County and represented different demographic groups. Some groups mobilized include reformed youth, women, persons living with disabilities, religious leaders, and human rights defenders from all the six sub-counties in Mombasa County.

Members of the Missing Voices Coalition in Mombasa from HAKI Africa, MUHURI, and Kituo cha Sheria decried the increased number of mob injustice cases in Mombasa and its environs. They claimed that 19 suspects had been lynched in less than a month.

They asked security agencies to respond urgently to crime reports to stop this trend as some may be used to settle personal scores. They also asked the government not to set up another unit like the SSU that would be used to kill Kenyans.

Members of the Social Justice centers Working group from Nairobi also took time to educate participants about the social justice movement and how it can help the poor and marginalized at the coast access justice.

They told them about the importance of organizing which is aimed at giving strength to those facing challenges in communities.

MEDIA INTERVIEW LINKS

The climax of the event was the premier of the new Missing Voices Documentary titled "License to kill?"

The documentary gave a historical perspective on how police killings and enforced disappearances came to be normalized in Kenya and what should be done to stop the trend. The link is attached below.

RECOMMENDATIONS

To The National Assembly

1. Ratify the International Convention on the Protection of All Persons from Enforced Disappearance per its constitutional and international obligations without reservations.
2. Enact a law on Enforced disappearances or amend existing legislation to criminalize Enforced disappearances. The law should include recourse and reparations for victims and their families.
3. Amend the National Police Service Act and the Independent Policing Oversight Authority Act to grant the IPOA the primary responsibility to investigate crimes allegedly committed by police officers. Currently, under Sections 24 (e) and 35 (a) & (j) of the National Police Service Act, the police are responsible for the investigation of crimes. But under sections 6 (a) and 25 of the Independent Policing Oversight Authority Act, (IPOA) is responsible for investigating crimes committed by the police. The mandate overlaps between the DCI and IPOA investigating extra-judicial killings and enforced disappearances has prevented an adequate investigation.
4. Amend the Independent Policing Oversight Authority Act, the Wildlife Conservation and Management Act, the Prisons Act, the Forest Conservation and Management Act, National Intelligence Service Act 2012, and the Kenya Coast Guard Service Act to expand the mandate of IPOA to exercise civilian oversight over and investigate crimes alleged to have been committed by officers from these agencies.
5. Ratify the Optional Protocol to the Convention against Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman, or Degrading Treatment or Punishment (OPCAT).

To the National Police Service

1. The Internal Affairs Unit of NPS to initiate investigations into the activities of the disbanded DCI SSU, including Extrajudicial Executions and Enforced Disappearance, and to make strong recommendations to the Inspector General of Police and the Director of Public Prosecutions to act and seek justice and accountability.
2. Ensure that documentation in the occurrence book indicates all persons in police custody to facilitate rapid investigations of enforced disappearances.
3. Ensure those police officers wear the uniform, have their identification badges, and drive police vehicles to be easily identifiable by the public.
4. Provide adequate medical cover, including psychosocial and mental health support to officers and families, for the police officer and families.

The Office of the Director of Public Prosecution

1. Expedite cases on Extra-Judicial killings and Enforced disappearances in court and work with the judiciary to provide a realistic timeline for resolution.
2. Develop a habeas corpus guideline with state oversight agencies, the judiciary, and civil society organizations.
3. Develop ODPP guidelines on the investigation of enforced disappearances.
4. Fast-track the development of jurisprudence on prime responsibility and command of responsibility.

To the Attorney General

1. Ratify the International Convention for the Protection of All Persons from Enforced Disappearance by the government of Kenya.
2. Operationalize the National Coroners Service Act and the Prevention of Torture Act.
3. Fast-track the payment of court awards and reparations to victims of unlawful police killings.
4. Work with the CS Interior and Coordination of National Government and the relevant National Assembly Committees to increase budgetary allocation to facilitate the operationalization of the National Coroners Service under the National Coroners Service Act.

To the Judiciary

1. Expedite and finalize the cases of enforced disappearances and police killings before the court and habeas corpus before the court.
2. Prioritize the need for law reform on sanctions for government officials' failure to obey court orders for production in habeas corpus cases.

To the Independent Policing Oversight Authority (IPOA)

1. Investigate and prosecute members of the disbanded Special Service Unit of DCI for their individual and command roles in extortion, abductions, kidnappings, torture, Extra-judicial Executions, and enforced disappearances, which are serious crimes.

MISSING VOICES DIRECTORS' STATEMENTS

“The time for action is now. We cannot wait any longer to tame injustices and violations of human rights include to life and the right to security. Human rights defenders play a, crucial role in monitoring, documenting and reporting human rights violations in their communities, yet they face serious risks, including extrajudicial.

Our shared responsibility is to ensure.

It is our shared responsibility to hold those responsible for these crimes accountable perpetuating an end to the impunity that perpetuates violence and human rights abuses. We must raise our voices in support of human rights defenders and demand that governments take concrete steps to protect their safety and security.”

“Protection International Africa calls for impartial, thorough, and independent investigations into extrajudicial killings and enforced disappearances, and for those responsible to be brought to justice. The future we want to build requires all of us to act and speak out for human rights and accountability,”

Susan Muriungi

Africa Regional Director, Protection International Africa

“Accountability Now” to combat corruption and impunity, the strongest enemies of human rights, and forge the bases for a responsible, equitable, and fair society. The Human Rights Defenders in Kenya remain united and resolute in demanding for accountability and remain engaged and committed in fighting corruption, violence, injustice, discrimination, and all form of abuses. Pamoja tunaweza!!”

Checks and balances are necessary in order for the police to carry out their duties in accordance with the law and to be held to account if they fail to do so. This will restore and enhance public confidence in policing.”

Joachim Paul

Director, Heinrich Böll Foundation

Article 244 of the constitution of Kenya requires the National Police Service to prevent corruption and practice a culture of transparency and accountability. Considering this, the Kenyan section of the International Commission of Jurists (ICJ Kenya) calls upon the NPS to collaborate with criminal justice actors to ensure speedy investigation and prosecution of rogue police officers.”

Elsy C Sainna

Director, The Kenyan Section of the International Commission of Jurist

The year 2022 had vigorous and numerous interventions aimed at enhancing police accountability. Notable was the judgement in the case of Willie, Joseph and Josephat, commonly referred to as Mavoko 3 case. This case took over six years plus to reach its conclusion. Three police officers plus one police informer were found guilty of the murder of Willie Joseph and Josephat.”

“Our hope has always been such cases can send a strong message of deterrence for police offices who engage in extrajudicial killings and enforced disappearances in Kenya.”

“We have seen a drop of 30% in cases of police killings and enforced disappearances in 2022 compared to 2021, from 219 cases to 153. Despite the decline in these cases, we have continued to witness more killings and dumping of bodies in rivers, like it was witnessed in River Yala.”

“We are encouraged that President William Ruto has been at the forefront in calling for an end to extrajudicial killings and enforced disappearance.”

“We believe that we can all work for a society where police officers are professional and uphold the rule of law and observe human rights as they execute their mandate, and in cases of police misconduct proper accountability mechanism are followed swiftly to address the misconduct. This is the reality that we dream and work for.”
